42. The word "geography" 43 from two Greek words, ge, the Greek word for "earth" and graphein,

44 means "to write". The English word "geography" means "to describe the earth".

45 geography books focus on a small area 46 a town or a city. Others deal with a state, a region, a nation, or an 47 continent. Many geography books deal with the whole earth. Another 48 to divide the study of geography is to distinguish between physical geography and cultural geography. The former focuses on the natural world; the 49 starts with human beings and next how human beings and their environment act 50 each other. But when geography is considered as a single subject, 51 branch can neglect the other.

A geographer might be described 52 one who observes, records, and explains the differences between places. If places 53 alike, there would be little need for geographers.

We know, however, 54 no two places are exactly the same, Geography then, is a point of view, a special way of 55 at places.

Alfred Nobel was a chemist and inventor. He made two important inventions, so he became very rich. Although he was rich, Nobel was not a happy man. He never married or had children. Also, he was a sick man a large part of his life. Nobel died at the age of sixty-three. When he died, he left a fund of $ 9,000,000. The money was to be used in giving prizes to those who made outstanding achievements in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature, and the promotion of the world peace.

The first Nobel's Prizes were given on December 10, 1901, five years after Nobel's death. Many famous people all over the world have been given Nobel Prizes for their achievements. Albert Einstein was one of them.

Each prize has three parts. The first part is a gold medal. Second, a winner of a Nobel Prize is given a diploma saying that he has been given the prize. The third part of the prize is a large amount of money - about $ 40,000.

Often a prize is given to just one person, but not always. Sometimes a prize is shared. It might be given to two or more people who have worked together. It is also sometimes true that a prize is not given at all if there is no outstanding achievement. In 1972, for example, not a Nobel Peace Prize was given. It is the Nobel Foundation in Stockholm that decides whether to give the prize or not.

56. Alfred Nobel, the originator of the Nobel Prize, was _____.

- B. didn't live a happy life because of his poor health
- C. was very rich and had a warm family
- D. devoted himself to all kinds of scientific researches

答案: B

58. The Nobel Prizes were first given _____.

- A. in the fifth year after Nobel's death
- B. to many famous people from all over the world

C. to Albert Einstein in December 1901

D. to all those who had achievements

答案: A

59. Each Nobel Prize contains _____.

A. a gold medal B. a diploma

C. about $ 40,000 D. all the above

答案: D

60. Which of the following statements is not true?

A. Nobel Prize is usually regarded as the highest honor in the world.

B. The winner of a Nobel Prize is always an excellent person who has achieved remarkable success in physics, chemistry, literature or the promotion of the world peace.

C. A prize is always given to one or two outstanding persons.

D. Whether the prize is to be given or not is decided by the Nobel Foundation in Stockholm.

答案: C

Passage 2

Computers are very versatile. They can do many things such as teaching, playing games, or helping with a business, so choosing a computer is not an easy, simple job. But if you follow these steps, you will find it easier.

First and foremost, decide on the main reasons why you want a computer. Is this computer very useful for you? Is it the most important reason to play games or to help with your business or to help with your schoolwork?

Second, look carefully at the programs the computer can use. Some people also write their own programs. If you want to write your own, it is important to look at the computer language. Is it easy to learn?

Third, decide the smallest, or the least needs you have for your computer. What are the characteristics you would like to have? For example, do you want a typewriter keyboard? Is a color display important to you? Your use of the computer will help you decide which characteristics are necessary, which are nice, and which are unnecessary.

Fourth, when you have limited your choices to a few computers, look at the secondary uses and programs. For example, if your main reason for buying a home computer is to play games, you may take computer A instead of computer B because computer A can also be used as a word processor.

Fifth, think of the price. There are prices to think about. The first price is the price you must pay to take the computer home. The second is the price of additional programs and possible additions that you might want to buy at a later date.

Be sure to try out the computer before you buy it. Sales people at computer shops are happy to help you choose the computer that will best fit your needs and cost you least.

61. Which of the following statements is not true according to the passage? _____.

- A. Choosing a computer is not an easy, simple job.
- B. Sales people at computer shops are not willing to help you choose the computer you need.
- C. Before you go to the computer shops, you should first decide on the main reasons why you want a computer.
- D. You should try out the computer before you buy it.

答案: B

62. The sentence "The Computers are very versatile." means _____.

- A. computers are very expensive
- B. computers can do many things
- C. computers are very good to play with
- D. computers are very cheap

答案: B

63. You should take _____ steps before you buy a computer.

- A. five    B. three
- C. four    D. seven

答案: A

64. Which step is the most important for you to buy a good computer?

- A. The first step.    B. The last step.
- C. The fifth step.    D. The second step.

答案: A

65. This passage tells us _____.

- A. about computers    B. how to choose a computer
- C. what computers are good to use    D. which computers are expensive
